

“As I continue to paint, I find myself delving more deeply into the reflective and mystical qualities of water, and the human form with water. All of my work, regardless of content, explores the duality found in nature of the ever-changing and the eternally, unchanging in the mind and in the external world. The combination of temporal ebb and flow and the eternal offer much material for contemplation, visual inquiry, and exploration.”

Miriam Drake